Hope to Smash Deadlock Goes Glimmering When 42 Ballots Are Taken

NEW YORK.—The tightly deadlocked democratic national convention set out today with a new balloting record only four runs up the steep and thus far steady ladder it has been climbing since Monday in search of a presidential nominee.

The 42 ballots taken prior to today's session have served only to place increasing emphasis on the whip-hand, held over the other's chances by each of the contending leaders, neither of whom has displayed any sign of discouragement. In the McAdoo camp, more reserves were claimed today despite the drive made yesterday, and it was generally conceded that the Smith leaders had much strength in storage under other names.

Called to begin their 43rd ballot at 10 a. m. eastern daylight saving time, the delegates still had before them a field of 13 names, with William McAdoo (Continued on Page 2)

Highway Trailer Is Given Decision in Damage Suit

In a decision made public today, Judge George Grimm upheld the verdict of the jury in the case of the Highway Trailer company of Edgerton against the Janesville Electric company, in which damages of $47,703.49 were awarded to the Trailer company. When that verdict was rendered after a long struggle by jury following a four weeks trial, there were certain questions left to the court for decision, mostly having to do with the purely legal aspects. In Judge Grimm's decision printed here in full, judgment for the amount of damages fixed by the jury is ordered entered against the defendant, the Electric company.

FAIR WEATHER FOR FOURTH

It will be safe to prepare that picnic basket tonight, to shine up the car and to get ready to enjoy the Fourth of July out of doors. Sunshine and warm breezes is the forecast of the weather man for Friday—all day.

It may have looked dubious on Thursday with little showers now and then, but Old Joe Phylus was just shaking the last few drops out of the sprinkling can to store it away for a spell.

New western weather is on the way, predicts L. C. Mead, the local weather shark, who has returned from the southlands. He points out that Wisconsin's hot waves usually come out of the northwest and that 90 to 100 degrees prevailed out that way when July came in.

Start Paving of Mineral Pt. Ave.

After completing the paving of the east half of Pearl street from Highland to the west half from Highland to a point north of Ravine street, the paving machine was moved Thursday to the Point avenue, to pave the two blocks between Washington and Pearl streets. The plan is to complete this portion of the work so the No. 12 detour can be rerouted over Mineral Point avenue and the Ravine street intersection of Pearl street paved. A detour will be necessary on this highway until the three blocks on Washington street north of Mineral Point avenue can be paved.

LA FOLLETTE ASKED TO PERMIT USE OF NAME ON BALLOT

NATIONAL COMMITTEE OF PROGRESSIVES MAKES FORMAL REQUEST. ASSSENT EXPECTED

Delegates Gathering in Ohio Metropolis for Convention Starting Friday.

WASHINGTON.—Senator La Follette intends to hold his peace with reference to his plans to run for president until a democratic candidate has been selected in New York, it was said today by a group of his supporters who held a conference here. The Cleveland convention which is to name him will meet here that it might mark time, if necessary, to await the Wisconsin senator's pronouncement.

CLEVELAND.—Besides the all-important message to Senator La Follette, invitations were sent to several progressive leaders by the national committee today.

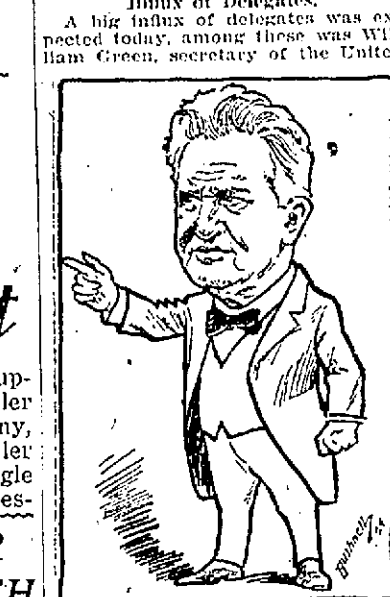

One of these, signed by Edward Keating, former congressman, was sent to Representative Henry Allen Cooper at Racine, Wis. It urged him to "come and let progressives elect the platform 'jerry' when he presented the Wisconsin platform to the republican national convention."

It was reported semi-officially that representative John M. Nelson of Wisconsin will be Senator La Follette's campaign manager. He was yesterday this was "premature," but the report persisted despite his denial.

CLEVELAND.—Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, today was asked formally to permit the use of his name as a presidential candidate by the national committee of the conference held at Cleveland. A sub-committee drew up a message to the senator, which was submitted to the full committee for approval and then dispatched to Washington.

A favorable reply is confidently expected by the leaders of the Cleveland gathering. They said it would probably be brought by messenger from the national capital or entrusted to the hands of some delegate to the convention so that it might be given to the convention late Friday.

A big influx of delegates was expected today, among these was William H. Taft, secretary of the United States.

MINE WORKERS OF AMERICA. While accredited as a delegate and entitled to a seat in the convention, he was given no power to bind his organization, his instructions being to report back on the results achieved. Many socialists, who will take part in the national convention of that party opening July 6, were also here in the role of observers, although their official unit of the conference, Morris Hillquit, a member of the national committee of the socialists, is also a member of the progressive conference. He said that if the conference shows signs of being a permanent political organization, he will not join it.

CONFERENCE ONLY CAN BREAK UP THIS DEADLOCK

By DAVID LAWRENCE. Copyright, 1924, by the Janesville Gazette. Special Correspondence to the Janesville Gazette.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York.—The three-cornered deadlock in the democratic national convention has gone so far that only a conference of leaders can break it up and bring about the nomination of a compromise candidate.

The latest plan is for a conference of the chairman of all delegations to be addressed by former Governor Judson Harmon of Ohio, William Jennings Bryan and prominent democratic members of congress in order to determine a course of action.

Dry Wing Leads Smith.

There is unalterable opposition to Governor Smith from the dry wing of the party which comprises the west and the south. William Jennings Bryan who has been effecting by squelching the Bryan wing is now leading to take the floor against him is on the warpath with respect to Smith. Bryan objects to the New York governor as a well.

Smith, the man prevalent in the Smith camp who see no immediate outcome of the deadlock say they are powerless to break it so long as Smith continues to gain. They say the McAdoo people ought to be ready for a conference but that until the Smith vote drops off too, a new-vow of party leaders would hardly be brought.

But if the Smith men think McAdoo is out of it, the McAdoo generals do not.

Smith Fighting for McAdoo. Smith's faithful attack all along the line," said Brockbridge Long of Missouri, floor manager of the McAdoo forces, "and we have demonstrated that our line can not be broken down. We have lost here and there and probably will lose a few more but we have a strong line and the opposition will learn that it can not stand."

There is impatience and restiveness in the ranks of the delegates. The pressure to break the unit rule in several states is growing. But the consensus of opinion continues to grow that neither McAdoo or Smith even if they gain a hundred votes can get a majority much less a two-thirds vote. "The task is now to convince the leaders of the McAdoo and Smith camps of that fact. The favorite son delegations who constitute nearly a third of the delegates are not getting in enough votes to help either Smith or McAdoo. The much talked of reserve power for either Smith or McAdoo proved a myth."

FRANCE FLIES OLD GLORY

PARIS.—By instructions of the French government to the prefects and other functionaries, the stars and stripes will fly tomorrow, the Fourth of July, alongside the tri-color on the flagpoles of every public building in France and her colonies.

RUSK WOODCHUCK BOUNTIES, $870

Ladysmith.—Since April 1, when the woodchuck bounty went into effect in Rusk county, the county clerk has issued orders for 3,481 bounties at 25 cents each, or a total of $870.25. At this rate it is estimated that woodchucks will be practically exterminated in the county within a few months.

Stubborn Battle Still Goes on as No One Surrenders

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York.—There being no possible hope of making a nomination this afternoon, after the 54th ballot the convention adjourned until 8 o'clock this evening. When the last roll call was made for the 54th the result was as follows:

McAdoo, 427; Smith, 320; Davis, W. Va., 62; Underwood, 40; Cox, 51; Glass, 24; Ralston, 92; Robinson, 43; Ritchie, 17 1/2; Walsh, 1; Saulsbury, 6; Owen, 3; Franklin Roosevelt, 1; Gov. Bryan, 7; total, 1,098.

It looked at this time as though the convention would have to hold a session on the Fourth and celebrate by taking more ballots. The deadlock at the hour of adjournment was more hopeless than ever since the attempt had been made to line up delegates for some candidate.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE) MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York.—Still stubbornly resisting any attempt to break the first life, though here and there casualties occurred, the battle of the ballots went on in the democratic national convention on the 13th day of the session and when the 54th call of the roll had taken place, without any decided change in the line-up, there was no doubt but the record of the party made 64 years ago, would be broken and a new line set above 59.

Ralston, in spite of the determination of Taggart to put all his reserve in the field, failed to come up to the expectations but got up to 94 on the 53rd ballot. There was little excitement—the day was like yesterday, without the picturesque scene created by Bryan. It would be a wise man who would say what was going to happen here and no one even is making a guess. It may be that the deadlock cannot be broken at all and the Smith delegations win the fight—Smith or no one.

Deadlock Sure

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS) MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York.—In quick succession two states left the McAdoo standard in today's balloting for a democratic presidential nomination and one of them, Mississippi went over solidly to recruit the swelling forces of Ralston of Indiana. Picking up other scattered groups, Ralston is gaining strength and the full force of the swing to him could not yet be determined.

As McAdoo lost steadily his leadership, a real break away from him to a compromise candidate, besides Mississippi, the Iowa delegation, which has been voting solidly for the start with the McAdoo supporters agreed unanimously to abandon its unit rule and scatter its vote according to personal preference. McAdoo retained only 9 of the 26. Seven and a half went to Smith and 4 to Ralston.

An effort was being made meantime to swing Missouri to Ralston. When the state was called on, the 52nd ballot it withheld its vote pending a poll of the delegates, which had been voting for McAdoo under the unit rule.

How Ballots Ran

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS) MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York.—Believing all records for prolonged balloting saved and the democratic national convention was still deadlocked as tightly as ever today, with no indication of how soon the break would come.

McAdoo had dropped below the 500 mark again, due to the loss of Oklahoma, which jumped to Senator Robinson. The Smith people said they were lying back letting McAdoo have his run and the McAdoo people said they were waiting for all the Smith votes to be brought out on the floor before disclosing their strategy further. It looked very much as though the arrival of a new group among the delegates, when the Smith showdown came it would result in a reaction.

There was a little informal confab in the convention lobbies among the various leaders looking to a compromise. In this connection the talk of Ralston and his friends as a ticket, while others wanted Walsh and Cummings, friends of Robinson were pressing his claims in these conferences.

CANCEL PAVING CONTRACT, DEMAND

Petition, Signed by Nine, Says Birdsell Covenant Is Void.

Demanding that the city council take immediate steps to cancel its $275,000 paving contract with the R. Birdsell & Sons company, Racine, signed more than 10 years ago, a petition bearing nine signatures was filed with City Manager Henry Traylor late Wednesday afternoon by J. C. Birdsell, attorney for the petitioners. Copies were also served on City Clerk-Treasurer A. J. Olson, the Birdsell company, and every one of the seven members of the council.

The ground on which cancellation of the contract is sought is that gravel being used in the paving program is being bought from the Janesville Sand & Gravel company, in which J. K. Jensen, president of the city council, is a stockholder and officer. The law prevents a man holding such a public office from selling any municipal assets directly to the city. The petition threatens action unless the contract is declared void.

Everything Claimed Legal

"Everything has been done in full accordance with the laws and I don't think the city is in danger of having its paving program tied up because of this petition," said City Manager Traylor, Thursday. "The Janesville Sand & Gravel company is not selling gravel to the city but to the paving contractor. The contractor has the choice of buying sand, gravel or cement from whoever he chooses. The city did not dictate where he should buy."

"In order to pour concrete at the rate in which he does, the contractor asked for $100,000 more on the job if gravel had to be shipped in."

The document consists of seven pages of typewritten matter, citing at length the proceedings leading up to the letting of the big paving contract, and the public offer of the Janesville Sand & Gravel company of torpedoes and land gravel at 40 and 48 cents per ton. It also mentions that besides being president of the council, Mr. Jensen is chairman of the committee of public works.

The petition closed with the following warning: "Notice is respectfully given that the undersigned taxpayer, in case the said city of Janesville, through its proper officers, does not take immediate and appropriate steps to cancel said contract and recover any moneys paid thereunder, will take such steps for and on behalf of himself and other taxpayers of the city of Janesville as may be advisable and as may be authorized by law in the premises."

The council may take some action on the matter at its next regular meeting at 7:30 Monday night.

Following are the nine names signed to the petition: Mrs. Catherine Hengenz, 352 Western avenue; Mrs. Margaret Malone and W. T. Malone, 1215 Minnesota street; Charles P. Newton, 327 Glen street; James Mohr, 515 Monroe street; Harvey H. Wilcox, 526 Monroe street; William G. Peirn and Mrs. Ida Peirn, 451 North Pearl street; and Thomas White, 403 North Pearl street. The document is dated July 2, 1924.

Kansas Man Gets Stolen Auto

Ownership of the 1923 Ford coupe found abandoned by police two weeks ago near the tourist camp on North Washington street, has been proved by W. E. James, Chanute, Kan. The car will be returned to Mr. James by a police officer of the Kansas town. Description of the car stolen from Mr. James some months ago tallied perfectly with that of the abandoned machine. Communication with the Chanute authorities resulted when an old letter addressed to Mr. James was found by Desk Sergeant Charles Handy.

MATE TALKS BUT WIFE DOES VOTING

Maine Alternate Takes Wind Out of Husband's Anti-Klan Sails.

New York—Mrs. W. R. Pattangall of Augusta, Me., is the wife of the statesman who led the fight for the anti-klan plank before the democratic convention Saturday. He wanted the plank named right out in the platform, while she had ideas of her own.

It is intimated that if it wasn't named, the earth would pass away and the heavens would be rolled back as a result. He conducted the debate for the minority report, and made the principal speech for the minority report.

Laugh is on him

Then Pattangall, who is a candidate for governor of Maine, remained on the platform until the vote was cast. His absence voted in his stead. And what did Mrs. Pattangall do? Why, she voted for the majority report, and against her husband, and the laugh was on Mr. Pattangall.

Do not think Mrs. Pattangall did not know what she was doing, or that she cast her vote in a moment of forgetfulness. The women who walk with the klan, the bargain counter and forget to pick up their umbrellas. Here is what Mrs. Pattangall says: "I voted in accordance with the anti-klan plank, which was the inclusion of the name of the Ku Klux Klan in the platform. Of course, I have not the slightest interest in the klan. I do not know anyone who belongs to it and am opposed to any unlawful act on the part of this or any other organization. But I thought I was giving the klan too much advertising to mention it by name in the democratic platform, and I was afraid such a plank might cause religious dissension."

Speech for Hulton

Then there is Mrs. Mary E. Gubins of Muncie, Ind., who made an address during the balloting. It has been reported that she was among the women who know enough to vote for the anti-klan plank. As a rule, the husband-led chairman of the delegation is the advance agent of the klan. He attracts the chairman's attention. Then the woman gets up on a chair and says:

"My state casts no many votes for anybody."

Nobody hears what it is, for there is no such thing as hearing what a woman says from the floor unless she has a big voice. After the women announce the vote, some men tell the klan they are not. But Mrs. Gubins of Muncie made them hear. No advance agent was necessary.

Indiana—Mrs. Gubins, and her voice rang through the hall, "casts 30 votes for Ralston, and I wish we had three hundred votes to cast for him."

Mr. Ralston is nominated, and elected, Mrs. Gubins should have the postoffice at Muncie.

The other new famous woman is Miss Marion Wiley of Georgia, a frail little woman who was elected to the convention as a delegate-at-large. She changed her vote on the anti-klan plank and induced another member of the delegation to change his vote.

That made the change of a whole vote, and, on the first announced result of the roll call, that one vote saved the majority report of the platform committee from defeat and kept the party from writing down its specific condemnation of the klan.

TWO ARRESTED IN RAID ON FARM

Joe Zaborak, Taken Near Edgerton, Fined $250 or Six Months.

Dropping in at a most unexpected time, Sheriff Fred Steyer and a stable hand, Edgerton, on Thursday, raided the farm of Joe Zaborak, south of Edgerton, arresting Zaborak and Oscar Nordling, farm laborer from a neighboring place, on a charge of violating the prohibition laws. Considerable liquor was seized, moonshine alcohol, synthetic gin and wine.

Three men were seated around the kitchen table as the sheriff walked in. A whiskey glass, empty bottles and a surprised expression on their faces, told the authorities this raid had not been "tipped off." Nordling started to walk out of the kitchen into the yard and was followed by the sheriff. A full bottle of moonshine was found near the corner of the house and another near the back porch. The sheriff made a raid at the same farm some months ago, but was not successful in finding sufficient evidence to warrant prosecution.

Charged with the possession of illicit intoxicants, Zaborak pleaded guilty before Judge Maxfield Thursday afternoon and was fined $250 and costs or six months.

Nordling demanded an examination when accused of the same charge. The hearing was set for 10 a. m. July 2.

Battle of the Ballots Now Breaking Records

The forty-fourth ballot in the democratic national convention in New York produced no noming as it did in San Francisco four years ago.

Here are the totals of the 44th ballot:

McAdoo, 483.4; Smith, 319.1; Davis, W. Va., 71; Underwood, 40; Cox, 54; Glass, 24; Ralston, 31; Robinson, 44; Ritchie, 17.4; Davis, Kansas, 2; Walsh, 1; Saulsbury, 6; Owen, 4; Total, 1,098.

Davis Gains 2 on 44th.

On the 45th ballot, the Illinois delegation took the vote cast previously for Edwards of New Jersey and gave it back to Governor Davis of Kansas. There was no other change in the scattering of the remainder of the state's votes. In Maine, two votes were taken from Underwood and given to John W. Davis, taking all twelve votes about the floor shaping up the Ralston forces, said:

"I want them all to have their vote. I want them all to have their vote back to see what the others were doing. The most common expression among the delegates was: 'We don't know where to go.'"

Senator Owen of Oklahoma was asked by a friend for "the low down."

"Disunion is rapidly approaching," said the senator.

Totals on the 45th ballot were: McAdoo, 483.4; Smith, 319.1; Davis, W. Va., 73; Underwood, 38; Cox, 54; Glass, 24; Ralston, 31; Robinson, 44; Ritchie, 16.2; Davis, Kansas, 2; Walsh, 1; Saulsbury, 6; Owen, 4; Total, 1,098.

46th Ballot

Totals of the 46th ballot: McAdoo, 483.4; Smith, 319.1; Davis, W. Va., 71; Underwood, 38; Cox, 54; Glass, 24; Ralston, 31; Robinson, 44; Ritchie, 16.2; Davis, Kansas, 2; Walsh, 1; Saulsbury, 6; Owen, 4; Total, 1,098.

Want Both to Withdraw

Several members of the democratic national committee were discussing on the floor of the convention a suggestion that the committee seek to end the deadlock by pressing for the simultaneous withdrawal of both Smith and McAdoo.

"There still is some question whether the time is ripe for such a move," said Joseph Daniels, former secretary of the navy, when asked about it. Cordell Hull, chairman of the committee, thought the suggestion was a "good one." Some members of the committee received the suggestion favorably, and leaders expressed a willingness to confer on the question.

Apparently something developed to blast the idea after it got under discussion, for after talking about it for some time, Hull said it "seemed unreasonable" and Franklin D. Roosevelt, manager for Governor Smith, said "Pooh Pooh."

On the 47th ballot the leaders stood this way: McAdoo, 484.4; Smith, 320.1; Davis, 70.5; Robinson, 45; Underwood, 38.5; Ralston, 31; McAdoo lost two and half; Smith gained one; Davis lost a half; Robinson gained 1, so did Underwood; Ralston was unchanged.

Totals of the 47th ballot: McAdoo, 484.4; Smith, 320.1; Davis, W. Va., 70.5; Underwood, 38.5; Cox, 54; Glass, 24; Ralston, 31; Robinson, 45; Ritchie, 16.2; Davis, Kansas, 2; Walsh, 1; Saulsbury, 6; Owen, 4; Total, 1,098.

Ballot No. 48

The 48th ballot totals: McAdoo, 484.4; Smith, 320.1; Davis, W. Va., 70.5; Underwood, 38.5; Cox, 54; Glass, 24; Ralston, 31; Robinson, 45; Ritchie, 16.2; Davis, Kansas, 2; Walsh, 1; Saulsbury, 6; Owen, 4; Total, 1,098.

Ballot No. 49

The total on the 49th ballot: McAdoo, 484.4; Smith, 320.1; Davis, W. Va., 70.5; Underwood, 38.5; Cox, 54; Glass, 24; Ralston, 31; Robinson, 45; Ritchie, 16.2; Davis, Kansas, 2; Walsh, 1; Saulsbury, 6; Owen, 4; Total, 1,098.

Totals of the 50th ballot follow:

McAdoo, 461.1-2; Smith, 320.1-2; Davis, W. Va., 74; Underwood, 42; Cox, 54; Glass, 24; Ralston, 31; Robinson, 44; Ritchie, 16.1-2; Davis, Kansas, 2; Walsh, 1; Saulsbury, 6; Owen, 4; Total, 1,098.

On the 50th ballot Nebraska took one from Robinson and gave it to McAdoo and North Carolina took two from Robinson, giving one to Ralston and a half each to Underwood and Davis of West Virginia.

MUNICIPAL LINKS FREE ON "FOURTH"

New Grounds Will Be Open to Public Gratis on Holiday.

Janesville's Municipal Golf links at Riverside park will be open for free use of the public, Friday, the Fourth of July. This announcement was issued at noon Thursday, upon the decision of F. S. Dulles, chairman of the greens committee, that the course is now playable.

The official opening of the club, however, will not be held until Wednesday, July 16. A program is being arranged for that afternoon and evening, by a committee headed by Dr. Irving A. Clark.

Work on the course was completed by the installation of cups and poles on each of the six greens. These were donated by the Sheldon Hardware company.

The greens and fairways are in the condition.

Entrance to the course is off highway number 13, the first private road to the right after passing the old main entrance to the park at the city limits. The public is requested by the officials not to run vehicles on the links, but to park near the fence.

IMMIGRATION LAW INCREASES GUARD

Los Angeles—Fifty-five additional federal immigration inspectors, 50 of whom will be mounted agents, will be assigned to Mexican border patrol in California and the western 50 miles in Arizona, soon, according to Walter E. Carr, district supervisor of the immigration district comprising southern California and western Arizona.

The new agents, it was stated, will be placed in service to deal with an anticipated increase of attempted illegal entries into the United States by aliens as a result of the new immigration law.

BRAKES RELEASED: BOY OF 7 KILLED

New York—A boy of 7, Schwartzman, 7, was caught by an automobile on which other boys had released the brakes and suffered fatal injuries.

The automobile was owned by Peter Mann, who had left it a moment on the street. When the boys released the brakes the car rolled down hill, swerved over the sidewalk and into a group of youngsters and the western boy was caught by a fender and pinned against the front of a house.

Missouri also stayed in the Ralston column for this ballot.

North Carolina passed this time, apparently wanting to decide what to do with the last ballot, that went to Battle on the 48th ballot.

Ballot No. 50

There are 50th ballot totals: McAdoo, 429.2; Ralston, 34; Robinson, 42; Cox, 54; Glass, 24; Underwood, 42; Cox, 54; Glass, 24; Ralston, 34; Robinson, 42; Walsh, 1; Saulsbury, 6; Owen, 4; Total, 1,098.

BOYER HURT WHILE RUNNING AT "120"

OFFICER KILLED IN BATTLE WITH BANDITS

Drumright, Okla.—U. S. Lenox, Drumright policeman, was killed, and Police Chief J. H. Lenox was wounded, probably fatally, in a battle near here between officers and three bandits who robbed the Avery State bank at Avery, Okla.

BELOIT YOUTH IS GIVEN JAIL TERM

Ernest Ammons, 17, Beloit, was sentenced to one year in the county jail, on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, when he pleaded guilty Thursday, before Judge John B. Clark in the Beloit municipal court.

Four Million Illiterates

More than 4,300,000 illiterates will be entitled to vote in the election this fall according to a report made before the National Education association now concluding its sessions at Washington. Not all are foreign born. An illiterate under the United States census definition, is one who cannot read or write in any language. If illiterate there would be a large addition to the number of voters who would be unable to read party platforms in the language of this country. But of those who are now termed illiterate about 3 millions are of native American stock.

The effect of these illiterates on the national political situation is not at all hopeful. They may, as a matter of course, be the prey of designing persons and to them all news and information as to parties and candidates and principles must be communicated by word of mouth. Who carries this news and interpretation to the ignorant? Who will be the responsible person to translate the situation honestly? We have shut out immigration now. The law went into effect Tuesday and we should have time to devote to the education of these persons who are reported unable to read and write, yet who are permitted to vote. We may arouse ourselves some day and find that a solution of our difficulties with this vote, is to make it a necessary qualification to know how to read and write in the English language.

Life in Hamtramck

Life has its ups and downs in Hamtramck. This is the village near Detroit where a large number of workers in the Ford plants live. Some months ago an appeal was made to Poland against making the village folks—the village has some 70,000 people—do business in the American language. They wanted all and everything in Polish. And they have mostly succeeded by having no officials who cannot talk Polish. Now the mayor is on trial with a number of other village officials for conspiracy and violation of the prohibition laws. It is about the same sort of case as was up in Gary, Indiana, a few years ago when 75 of the city fathers with the mayor were convicted of the same crime. The Hamtramck bag numbered 53 officials and four of them turned state's evidence against the mayor, Jęzowski, and Dr. Dyrarz, health officer. One saloonist told all about the selling and drinking at his place which seems to have been a rendezvous for the village fathers. All of which goes to show that you can beat the game for awhile but at last eventually the law gets one.

What This Primary Means

Governor Nestos of North Dakota was defeated in the primary of that state by the republican candidate who also won the livery of the non-partisan league. What the result forebodes may as well be faced now as later. The voters who have defeated Nestos, who has made a good governor and was as progressive as the most progressive governor anywhere, and who accomplished many things, are the same voters who will be found in the presidential election in November supporting the candidacy of Robert M. La Follette. The candidate who defeated Nestos was committed to the industrial program of the league which includes state operated and owned mills, elevators and brickmaking plants. Gov. Nestos opposed it. Two years ago the governor had defeated Lemke by 30,000. At the same time La Follette won on a non-partisan league ticket for U. S. Senator.

The primary outcome looks to have something more than a state significance. An impartial observer scarcely can do otherwise than discern in the result a popular temper that does not bode well for either of the old parties in North Dakota. In the November elections if Senator La Follette should decide to run for the presidency. The victory of the league candidate in North Dakota, the renomination of Brookhart in Iowa, and the formidable Farmer-Labor vote in the Minnesota primaries are all symptoms that there is a widespread spirit of political desperation to be reckoned with in November unless something happens in the meantime to change the complexion of things. The work ahead of the republican party is two fold—to make a convincing presentation of its case, local and national, and to get out the republican vote.

What we cannot understand is why they don't nominate Brennan or Tom Taggart for president and let them get the gaff.

That St. Paul convention was frankly for free speech and a free press. Russia, the pattern of the St. Paul platform, has neither. In Russia today there is official terrorism in which, without necessity to make more investigation than the official reports of the Moscow government, it is known that arrests are frequent and the prisons at Moscow, Kiev and at other soviet centers for the "administration of justice" in South Russia, have been filled, while hundreds of executions have been performed—for the crime of espionage. 20,000 persons have been executed, according to reliable news sources, this year in Khiva. The terror reign keeps up because only by terror can a dictatorship of the proletariat be made to continue in power.

Instead of killing people with the powder and phloids of the Fourth of July we now slay with the automobile. Time improves.

The Genesis of the Dawes Plan

Washington.—The famous Dawes plan, providing for the settlement of German affairs including reparations, it is now learned in Washington, followed as a natural sequence of two events. The first was the famous New Haven address of Secretary of State Hughes, which contained the suggestion that non-political business interests of America might prove the arbiters of the European problem that the diplomats who had dwelt so long in the chancelleries of Europe had done so in a different view of world affairs necessarily entertained by them. The other, a declaration in a set of resolutions passed at the Rome meeting of the International Chamber of Commerce in March, 1923. This body was the outgrowth of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, which maintains headquarters at Washington and concerns itself with great national and international problems of an economic nature.

The Rome resolutions were the result of a two years' study by American business men connected with the International Chamber. They laid down a set of principles upon which they believed a plan could be built for the rehabilitation of Europe and of German affairs. The Dawes body was able to accept this with only such alterations as were necessary to bring it up to date.

This fact is regarded by the few persons familiar with it as constituting a remarkable tribute to the genius of American business men for solving problems which had baffled the first diplomats of Europe for the period since the signing of the Treaty of Versailles.

Delegates from the United States as well as from all other countries which have membership in the International Chamber, attended that conference and discussed a multitude of subjects of world importance. Inasmuch as the reparations situation in Germany was universally regarded as the stumbling block in the way of world rehabilitation, special attention was given to that vexed question.

The American delegation at the Rome Conference chartered a liner and made a preliminary cruise through the Mediterranean. The basis for the principles later embodied in the Rome resolutions had been carefully constructed by a committee of American business men among whom were Owen D. Young and Henry M. Robinson, both of whom were later members of the Dawes Commission; Fred I. Kent, vice president, Bankers Trust company; Willis H. Booth, vice president, Guaranty Trust company; Lewis E. Brown, chairman of board, Irving Bank, Columbia Trust company; together with Julius H. Barnes, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, and others prominent in commercial and financial circles.

Mr. Barnes was the only member of this group that sailed on the liner. The rest of them remained behind to watch developments and to study the situation. On this trip Mr. Barnes and others wrote out the Rome declarations. Mr. Kent, Mr. Booth and Mr. Pierson joined the American representatives at Rome and the Rome declarations were presented to the International Chamber meeting. Mr. Alberto Pirelli, a member of the Council of the International Chamber from Italy, was of great assistance in putting these resolutions through. Mr. Pirelli was also the Italian representative on the Dawes committee.

The resolutions were unanimously adopted by the convention. They comprise five general subjects: reparations, inter-allied debts, budgetary control and currency inflation, disturbance of international credits and foreign exchange.

The Rome resolutions received great attention from the allied and associated governments in every country in Europe. There is no question that they had immense influence in the final decision of the European governments to attempt to work out the problem by the method finally adopted.

Affairs in Europe did not mend. Further efforts of diplomats to bring about a settlement of the reparations problem made little progress. The French occupation of the Ruhr aggravated the economic and political situations to an alarming extent. Finally, a fresh effort was made by the governments. The diplomats, looking to the United States as most potential of help of any nation, turned back to the New Haven speech and read again what Secretary Hughes had said about the merits of business men and competent economists as compared with politicians.

It was determined to try the experiment, so overtures were made. The government at Washington made it clear that it could take no official part in the proceedings, could not even recognize an unofficial conference of business men. However, the government interposed no objection to but rather encouraged the European efforts of invitations to distinguished Americans to serve on committees to study the European problem.

General Charles G. Dawes and Owen D. Young, who is a member of the Council of the International Chamber, and Henry M. Robinson, an alternate director of the International Chamber, were invited to serve on the committee. The plan was finally worked out and in almost every particular followed out the principles laid down in the Rome conference. It must be understood that the Rome resolutions were a set of principles and not a plan in detail.

The result was that the plan which brought about a possible all-European settlement to the world in the form of the celebrated Dawes report was the logical sequence of the principles adopted by the International Chamber of Commerce at Rome, March, 1923.

The point of especial interest is that American business men showed themselves able to do what many conferences of European diplomats and political experts failed to accomplish. The application of American business genius proved more effective than ideas based upon the traditions of European diplomacy.

An important point in this connection is that a plan put forward by Americans had, from the first, more chance of acceptance than one from any other source. It was generally recognized that the American people were disinterested in any nationalistic sense. Nothing was sought by the United States save opportunity to be of service in restoring economic and political serenity in Europe.

A plan emanating from another source, a European source, unquestionably would have been scrutinized with a suspicious bordering hostility. The other parties would fear inevitably that the European nation which put forward a plan had something of a selfish nature to inspire its proposal. No such suspicion rested on the American plan to prejudice it from the first.

Reports from Europe indicate that there is much promise of successful application of the Dawes plan.

It can not all be done in a day but it seems as if the solution of European rehabilitation will be worked out along the principles laid down in the Rome resolutions if the present exertion is allowed to continue. It is said here to be practically certain that Europe has weathered the worst of the storm.

JUST FOLKS

YOU.
 And the deeds you hope to do.
 And the dreams which stir your restless soul—
 Is you!
 The way is rough and the way is long
 And the end is hid from view.
 But the one to say if you shall be strong—
 Is you!
 Oh, the world may smile or the world may frown
 And the sides be gray or blue,
 But the one who shall travel up or down—
 Is you!
 Though far it seems to the gleaming top
 Of the day brings dangers new,
 The only one who can bid you stop—
 Is you!
 For whether you work or whether you play,
 And women who are much in the way,
 Rest not with your friends or foes to say—
 But you!

HOROSCOPE

FRIDAY, JULY 4, 1924.
 Jupiter in beauteous aspect dominates this day, according to astrology. Venus and the Sun are in friendly conjunction.

This should be a lucky rule for most human activities and especially for buying and selling. Merchants and manufacturers should benefit at this time when there is likely to be an unusually brisk demand for wares.

Again sharp changes in fashion are foretold and these will be most beneficial to modistes, milliners and bootmakers.

There is an encouraging sign for both men and women who are much in the public eye and desirous of gaining approbation.

Actors as well as political candidates should benefit from this rule of the stars.

Theaters are to have a year of prosperity, although there will be changes of management and increased interest in community enterprises.

This should be a fortunate rule under which to seek work of any sort. It should be especially favorable for women.

All the signs appear to forecast great results from the reform efforts of women's organizations.

Money is to be comparatively easy during this entire month, if the stars are read aright, and this fact is a source of great comfort, notwithstanding the long-credited effects of a presidential campaign on trade prospects.

Excitement among speculators in the wheat pits is forecast and until the eighth there may be much fluctuation in the market.

Persons whose birthdate is 1 have the augury of a successful year in which they will be able to keep financial affairs in a satisfactory condition.

Children born on this day probably will meet with success all through life. Girls, however, should be safeguarded against unfortunate marriage. These subjects of Cancer often have experiences quite out of the usual run. They are generally fond of change and adventure.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
 Noted Physician and Author.

SOME USE FOR THE BUGS IN GRANDFATHER'S CHEST
 Chronic bronchitis, recurring winter cough, bronchitis, bronchitis, asthma, emphysema—in other words why does grandfather cough and wheeze? Mainly because he has bugs in his chest. And why do the bugs get into grandfather's chest? Sure, they don't pick on grandfather just because his chest is a little old and worn and crawl in to winter there without his consent. No. These "bugs" are an inescapable of such conduct as are the dahlias and begonias in grandfather's conservatory. The microbes concerned are neither animals nor plants, but organisms sharing the attributes of both forms of life. There is just one serious objection to calling disease germs "bugs"—it conveys a suggestion of activity, movement or travel even of "burrowing" in or out of the chest. Of course germs never do anything like that—outside of the romantic imagination of the ad writer. Germs never go anywhere unless they are carried there by some agency intentionally or accidentally. So far as the respiratory infections are concerned, the carrier of the germs is usually a human. But that's another story. Grandfather has bugs in his chest, however they got there, and the question before the house is, can we persuade some of the bugs to work for grandfather. Sure, when the germs are dead. These bugs are like Indians in that respect—good if dead. It would be a pity for grandfather if we could make good germs of his entire collection at one swell whoop, but experience has satisfied us that you can't kill off any considerable number of the bugs in grandfather's chest without damaging grandfather beyond repair, not with any known antiseptic or germicide, at any rate. So we have to try the next best thing, to keep grandfather's chest healthy, so that grandfather's specific resisting power against the particular germs which are causing his bronchitis, in other words, his chest, to chills. In other words, we resort to a treatment, sometimes called bacterial vaccines, a treatment which consists in administering by injection under the skin of the patient, a small quantity of measured numbers of the killed bodies of the germs which the bacteriologist find responsible for the bronchitis. A half of the bug that bit grandfather will do.

The bacterium used in such a case must be autogenous, that is, it must be prepared by the bacteriologist from the very strains of the bacteria which are the cause of the disease. The culture is made from the sputum, for the use of ready-made "stock" bacteria would probably only arouse grandfather's suspicion, and he might refuse to have his chest injected with such a thing, but are they getting anything?

Our 10-year-old son brought home at the close of the school term a report of a lecture given by a school nurse who says, "tonic, abnormal, (not serious)." What should we do? (Mrs. W. F.)

Answer.—From the health authorities against such "medical" inspections. Nurses are not competent to make such inspections, and it is an abuse of public health administration when they are encouraged to do so. The nurse who suggested this to you to do nothing unless you consult a physician. A considerable part of the lecture was devoted to the inspection of school children in just such a manner pulled off by the politicians to make the "contract" such "inspections" the taxpayer pays the price because they imagine they're getting something cheap. It is cheap, all right, but are they getting anything?

INFORMATION FOR WORLD WAR VETS

The World War Veterans' Act, 1924, passed by congress and signed by the president in the closing moments of the last session of congress, is the most far-reaching and important legislation affecting veterans passed since the World War.
 Depending, as it does, on the War Risk Insurance Act and the Vocational Rehabilitation Act, the liberal provisions of the new act of congress affect every veteran of all wars and expeditions of the United States since 1897.
 Some of its more important stipulations are:
 Price care and treatment in government hospitals with necessary traveling expenses for veterans of any war or expedition since 1897, regardless of the nature or origin of the disability.
 All world war veterans acquiring a mental or active tubercular ailment before Jan. 1, 1925, are now eligible for compensation.
 Compensation for World War veterans' widows increased from $25 to $30, and children's allowance from $5 to $6.
 Members of the National Guard will receive compensation for injuries sustained prior to Aug. 5, 1917, the date of official entrance into federal service.
 Sub-district offices of the Veterans' Bureau to be expanded to include all activities, including rating and awarding compensation.
 No veteran will be entered into vocational training after June 30, 1925, and all vocational training will be completed

MISTRESS WILDING:

A ROMANCE, BY RAFAEL SABATINI.

(Author of "Scaramouche," "Capt. in Blood," "Fortune's Fool," etc.)

Behind the two friends the tything-men had come to a terror-stricken halt. Dick and Nick, who were in the excitement of the moment and had drawn close to each other, looked on with parted lips and bosoms that rose and fell. Then Dick could not stifle his exclamation of "Mr. Wilding's coolness and address. Richard, on the other hand, was concerned only with thoughts of himself, wondering how he would fare with him if Wilding and Trenchard succeeded in getting away.

"Nick," said Mr. Wilding, "will you do these catpawls behind us to stand aside? If your Grace raises your voice to call for help, indeed, any measures are taken to go to the aid of our enemy, I am prompt to your Grace—notwithstanding my profound reluctance to use violence—that they will be the last measures you will take in life. For good enough to open the door. Nick, and to see that the key is on the outside."

Trenchard, who was by way of enjoying himself, now stopped, hesitating down the hall to do as his friend bade him, with a wary eye on the tything-men. But never so much as a finger did they dare to lift. Mr. Wilding's calm was too deep. They had seen a man in earnest before this, and they knew his appearance now. From the doorway Trenchard called Mr. Wilding.

"Must be going, your Grace," said the latter very courteously, "but I shall not be so wanting in deference to His Majesty's august representatives as to turn my back on you. Saying which, he walked backwards, holding his pistol level until he had reached Trenchard and the door. There he paused and made them a deep bow, in that manner the more mocking in its effect. "Your very obedient servant," said he, holding the key, and withdrawing it from the lock, and standing on tiptoe, thrust it upon the ledge of the lintel.

Instantly a clamor arose within the chamber. But the two friends never stayed to listen. Down the passage they sped at the double, and out into the courtyard. Trenchard was walking his mistress's Diana's horse up and down whilst she waited; yonder one of Sir Edward's stable-boys was holding Mr. Wilding's roan. Two or three men of the Somerset militia, in their red and yellow liveries, loomed by the gates, and turned uninterested eyes upon these newcomers.

Wilding apprehended his wife's groom. "Get down," he said, "I need your horse—on the King's business. Get down, I said. I said impatiently, upon nothing the fellow's stare, and, seizing his leg, he helped him to dismount by the most dragging him from the saddle. "Up with you, Nick," said he, and Nick very promptly mounted. "Your mistress will be here presently," Wilding told the groom, and turning on his heels he came back to the more, and made them a deep bow, in that manner the more mocking in its effect. "Your very obedient servant," said he, holding the key, and withdrawing it from the lock, and standing on tiptoe, thrust it upon the ledge of the lintel.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDERD

Mrs. Elderd is happy to advise all mothers about the care of their children, and any subject which does not belong in the field of the doctor.

Mrs. D. C. S. writes:

"Is there any way in which one can control the weight of a child before birth? My first baby weighed 12 pounds and died at birth; the second, 13, and I have practically no milk and butter and tea. I weigh only 117 pounds and would appreciate any advice you could give me on this subject."

Answer

Won't you write me personally about the constipation, sending me a self-addressed and stamped envelope, and I will send you some information that will be helpful.

Starvation and hunger are the foods which increase weight, also fats. A reduction in these might help and is well worth trying. I do not believe, however, that you are eating more than you should have. Cut down the quantity of food consumed, and keep to a wholesome variety of food. Do not eat a terrible diet, no matter what the result.

Mrs. G. D. G. writes:

"I am a self-addressed and stamped envelope. I shall be delighted to help you with the list. The list is too long to print."

To Mrs. D. The average baby of three months weighs 13 pounds. Your baby was better than an average.

Beauty Chats

By EDNA KENT FORBES

IF YOU ARE UGLY

You are not, of course. No one is really ugly. Somewhere in every face is a redeeming feature, or if the face is hopeless, the figure perhaps will be good. No, no one is really wholly ugly.

But if you have enough bad points to be glanced at casually and then classified among the homely ones, if no one bothers to lift and choose and pick out and dwell upon your few good points, what are you going to do? I have a suggestion. I think the most valuable one, for you can make yourself "interesting." Unusual, I mean, even a little odd, but nicely so, not freakishly.

Hunt for your best point—you've dozens—but choose the one easiest to bring out. If it's a good figure, study lines and materials and let your dresses be your chief extravagance, so you bring out your figure. If it's hair, find someone really artistic to advise you about ways of dressing it to show it off. If it's the shape of your hands, learn to use those hands gracefully in your daily work.

Beauty is a matter of the mind, not the body. It is a matter of the soul, not the flesh. It is a matter of the heart, not the head. It is a matter of the spirit, not the body. A large, stylized illustration of a man in a suit and hat, holding a cane, standing next to a large sign that reads "Sale". The man is depicted in a dynamic, almost dancing pose, with one leg raised and arms outstretched. He is wearing a light-colored suit jacket, a dark tie, and a fedora-style hat. The sign is a large, three-dimensional letter "S" followed by the word "ale" in a similar font. The background is a dark, textured area with some faint, illegible text. The overall style is reminiscent of early 20th-century commercial art or advertising.

BERRY SEASON IS AT ITS HEIGHT

Strawberries Plentiful at 9-10 Cents a Quart—Melons Proving Popular.

Huge sales of home-grown strawberries, which have now reached the height of their season, are reported by grocers this week and the prices are as low as any time in several years. With the few dry days the middle of this week the quality is considerably improved. The season, merchants think, will be unusually short, but they are unable to say with any degree of certainty how much longer they will continue at their present prices. Prices on single quarts are 9 to 10 cents, while a 16-quart crate sells for $1.40 to $1.55.

Water melons and musk melons are proving popular this week, and are considerably reduced in price, the former selling between 57 and 65 cents, and the latter at 10 to 15 cents each, or two for 25 cents. Among the other items for which there is a large call are California apricots, at 20 cents a dozen, or 75 cents a basket; green peaches, 25 cents a basket; California melons, 25 cents a dozen; blue plums, 15 cents a dozen; red plums, 35 cents a dozen; and Gallie seedless grapes (green), 25 cents a pound.

Peaches are somewhat small this week, but the quality is considered good and the price reasonable. There is a small amount of Georgia fruit on the market, as well as the California kind.

Vegetables Are Cheap.
Home-grown turnips and carrots are the latest vegetables to leave the shipped-in class, and sell at low prices. Five cents will buy a wide variety of vegetables, including a half-sized head of cabbage, a pound of rhubarb, two peppers, a bunch of new turnips, a large cucumber, a big bunch of leaf lettuce, green onions, radishes, or beet greens.

Caiflower is of better quality than heretofore this season, and sells at about steady prices, at 15 cents a pound, bringing a medium sized one up to 30 or 40 cents. Asparagus continues to bring 15 cents a bunch, while wax beans are 15 cents a pound, about the same as last week. No home-grown beans have yet appeared, but should within the next week.

Tomatoes have made a spectacular decline, and may be had as low as 12 cents a pound this week, against 20 to 25 cents last week. Some dealers are selling them for 25 cents.

Fruit include oranges, at 25 to 65 cents a dozen; grape fruit at 2 for a quarter to 15 cents each; bananas at 8 1/2 to 10 cents a pound; pineapples, 25 to 25 cents each.

Cocoanuts are 6 to 8 cents each. Despite the large amount of cane-sugar going on, sugar has not advanced to any great extent over the low prices which have been prevalent during the past few weeks, and may be bought in 100-pound lots for $8, and in some places at $7.50.

DRAMA URGED AS AID IN CHURCHES

Is Community Welding Influence, Declares Father McDermott at Meet.

Madison.—Drama cannot be surpassed as a community welding influence, the Rev. Father William P. McDermott of Evansville declared before the national inter-church conference here last night.

Father McDermott said dramatic activities can do much to eliminate denominational feeling.

Dramas staged by the church need not be of a religious character, he said. In stated the main requirement is that the play be clean, wholesome and worth while.

"Drama has always been an adjunct to religion," Father McDermott said. "It was one of the earliest forms of religious activity. Today it can be effectively used in presenting history to the community as a means of teaching the young and an attraction in bringing people to church."

Father McDermott advised against labeling a dramatic movement as denominational.

COSTS $11.70 EACH TO RUN GOVERNMENT OF WISCONSIN

Washington—The department of commerce announces that the total payments for expenses, interest, and outlays for the state government of Wisconsin for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1923, amounted to $21,875,541, or $11.70 per capita. Of this total, $26,373,664 represents the expenses of operating the general departments of the state government; $15,159, interest on debt; and $5,318, outlays for permanent improvements.

In 1922 the total payments for the state were $24,502,118, and in 1918, $16,517,953, a per capita of $12.92 and $8.48, respectively. The totals include all payments for the year, whether made from current revenues or from proceeds of bond issues.

The total revenue receipts of Wisconsin for 1923 were $94,187,218, or $22.55 per capita. This was $7,682,990 more than the total payments of the year exclusive of the payments for permanent improvements, and $2,313,762 more than the total payments, including those for permanent improvements.

In Wisconsin, property and special taxes represented 54.1 percent of the total revenue for 1923, 55.8 percent for 1922, and 62.5 percent for 1918. The increase in the amount of property and special taxes collected was $2.5 percent from 1918 to 1922, but there was a decrease of 11.2 percent from 1922 to 1923. The per capita property and special taxes were $6.82 in 1923, $7.75 in 1922, and $4.40 in 1918.

Earnings of general departments, or compensation for services rendered by state officials, represented 12.1 percent of the total revenue for 1923, 15.7 percent for 1922, and 14.1 percent for 1918.

Business and non-business licenses constituted 17.4 percent of the total revenue for 1923, 13.9 percent for 1922, and 18.4 percent for 1918. Receipts from business licenses consist chiefly of taxes exacted from insurance and other incorporated companies, while those from non-business licenses comprise taxes on motor vehicles and amounts paid for hunting and fishing privileges.

The net indebtedness (funded and floating debt less sinking fund assets) of Wisconsin was 76 cents per capita for 1923, 80 cents for 1922, and 70 cents for 1918.

For 1923 the assessed valuation of property in Wisconsin subject to ad valorem taxation was $5,131,018,551, the amount to state taxes levied was $15,851,262, and the per capita levy, $5.82.

MOST POPULAR BOB IS "BOYISH" STYLE, SAYS HAIR DRESSER

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Madison.—Growing popularity of bobbed hair and increasing demand for the "boyish" bob are outstanding tendencies of the styles in midday's culture, George Wenzel, "hair school" director of Chicago, told the annual convention of the beauty culturists and hair dressers association here today.

"Hair cuts for women will continue popular for at least 15 years," Mr. Wenzel declared.

"The bob is too popular to be discontinued. It has come to a point, however, where midday wants a little hair as possible while at work or at home, but she must add more for the evening."

The Adams grounds are probably leading in attendance, though no reports were made until the end of this week. One hundred and fifty were at that school on Monday evening. The basketball, Douglas and Washington grounds are also having good attendance. Adults are urged to use the grounds on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights, since it is felt that they should be of some use to citizens in general. The grounds will be open Wednesday night, but not Friday night, on account of the Fourth.

All efforts are being concentrated in making the water carnival at Goose Island Friday evening a big event, and all playgrounds will be closed that day.

Removal of Toll Tax Big Saving

Long distance telephone calls are no longer subject to a federal tax, having ceased to be effective at midnight Wednesday. Discontinuance of the tax is in accordance with the congressional action in amending the federal tax bill.

"The federal tax on toll calls in Wisconsin during 1923 is estimated at more than $400,000," said W. N. Cash, manager of the Wisconsin Telephone company. "The repeal will effect a considerable saving to local users of long distance telephone service."

The federal tax has amounted to five cents on a call for 14 to 50 cents, and 10 cents on a call costing more than 50 cents.

Raffia Classes Prove Popular

First classes in raffia work, including mat-making and the making of raffia dolls, which will later be painted, were held at the city playgrounds for the first time at 2 p. m. Tuesday, and will be continued weekly through the summer. The enrollment greatly exceeded expectations, and another shipment of material, which is being furnished free, has been ordered. A still larger number of children can be taken care of, it is stated by Arthur Wheeler, city playground director, who desires to make this one of the principal summer educational activities.

A tentative program of sports for the remainder of this month includes a croquet tournament for younger girls next week, a junior and senior tennis tournament, with classes for both boys and girls, for the week of July 14 and a volleyball tournament for boys and girls during the week of the 21st.
